SPORTS

ASKS ROOSEVELT TO ASK MIKADO TO PLAY BALL

Jess Wood, whom everybody in Honolulu, especially every sport knows well and knows him to be a hustler, is actually endeavoring to arrange with President Roosevelt to prevail on His Imperial Japanese Majesty to throw the first ball in the opening game in which the Reach All-American Club is interested in Japan.

Jess writes to The Star: "I hope to see you people on my way home. I am here in Japan and find them baseball crazy. There are three million people in the city of Tokio to draw from and I have asked the people there to try and break the world's record in attendance to a baseball game when we play there."

"We are having the President of the United States write the Emperor of Japan to throw the first ball in our opening game."

"We are going to carry silver balls with us, properly engraved, and they will be used for this purpose in all the cities."

"We will play twelve ball games and one game of cricket here (Yokohama). I have challenged the cricket club here to a game."

"Our club will be one of the strongest ever organized in America and we will show you some class when we strike Honolulu."

KETCHEL MAY CUT LOOSE FROM PAPKE

SAN FRANCISCO, August 10.—Unless Manager Joe O'Connor has word very shortly from Los Angeles that Billy Papke has signed and deposited his forfeit, the Ketchel-Papke match that was arranged by the Jeffries Club in Los Angeles for Labor Day, is in danger of being declared off. While O'Connor has no engagement for Ketchel at that time, he thinks that Papke should have sent word, and is inclined to be fractious.

Joe has not been talking for publication, but to several friends he said that the time which he gave the Los Angeles people has already expired, and he doesn't propose to let them fool along. When the match was made by Jack Griffin, O'Connor and Griffin each deposited $500 with John T. Clark, the understanding being that Papke's signature was to be secured at once.

"I haven't heard anything about Papke," O'Connor is quoted as saying. "They were to have eleven days in which to settle the matter, and they haven't sent me a line. I don't know but that Ketchel is doing too much fighting. In any event, they are not going to monkey with me in that fashion. I will give them a couple of days to make good, and if it isn't settled, pull down my forfeit."

When he has a second thought O'Connor may not be so hasty, for there is no chance to break into San Francisco for the September dates, unless Sam Berger is angling for the card and even then it would take a Papke to make a strong fight.

O'Connor, by the way, has already had several interviews with Jim Coffroth in reference to a Burns-Ketchel match. Not only Coffroth, but the other local promoters realize that such a fight would be a big card, and are already in the field looking for a chance to grab it up.

UNKNOWN IS NOT UNKNOWN SO MUCH

The Advertiser had a cable dispatch the other day headed "Unknown Defeats Unknown" and going on to say under date of Colma, Cal., August 15, that "Mustaine was given the decision in the first here last night."

The facts are that Terry Mustaine defeated Joe Willis. Both are heavyweights and Mustaine is one of the most promising men in the heavy-weight division. By winning from Willis, who has many victories to his credit, Mustaine is in line for matches with some of the premier heavies.

NEWPORT, (R. I.), August 10.—R. M. Emmott's Avenger today won the New York Yacht Club race for the King's cup. The time allowance granted the yacht was responsible for the winning of this classic event.

The Queen, owned by J. Rogers Marshall, was the first across the line. The Elmina, owned by F. F. Brewster, was second, closely followed by the Isaline. The Aurora, belonging to Cornelius Vanderbilt, was fourth. The Avenger was the last to cross the line.

The race was run over the forty-eight-mile triangular Astor cup course.

LONDON, August 10.—"Sporting Life" announces that everything has been arranged except the signing of the agreement for James R. Keene and August Belmont jointly to take Belmont Lodge at Newmarket as training quarters for their horses. The paper thinks that if the crisis in American turf affairs bring about any serious invasion of the English turf by Americans it will be advisable for the invaders to make Newmarket their home because there is no place in the world with equal facilities for the horsemen.

Eddie Smith will referee the Ketchel-Thomas bout, which is to be held at the Coliseum, San Francisco, this evening. This was decided at The Hague on August 10, when the managers of the boxers met and drew lots to decide who would be the third man in the ring. Joe O'Connor represented Ketchel and Frank McDonald looked after the interests of Thomas. Each manager put two pieces of paper bearing the names of referees in a hat, and an outsider drew one from the hat, the name of Smith being the one thus chosen.

A GREAT SHOW AT THE ORPHEUM

Henri French, the actor who arrived yesterday morning in the Siberia, made a great hit at the Orpheum last night. His juggling with a top hat and cane, comically aided by a colored servant, gave the crowded house side aches from explosive mirth. Another fine performance was his personation of famous European composers directing the orchestra.

No doubt the intimation that the director's gown was going to be exhibited helped to make the audience as large as it was. Millions of wealth were represented in the house and scattered at that among the seats front, middle and rear, some of the most refined society folk being in the tiers where sat those whose emotions were made audible in a way learned on the baseball bleachers. Miss Fuller was loudly applauded as she crossed the stage, at her entrance in "His Wife's Hero," arrayed in a splendid black silk specimen of the gown that has upset the equilibrium of the world of fashion. The sketch in itself was so extremely comical that it made the gown a mere incident. Later Agnes Miles came out with

CANNOT FOOL THE JAPANESE

QUALITY OF RAILROAD EQUIPMENT SENT FROM THIS COUNTRY LOSES TRADE.

TAIREN (Manchuria), August 9.—Japan is responsible for the introduction of the American railroad system into Eastern Asia, but she is rapidly taking to herself the trade in railroad equipment and material which was thrown in the beginning to American manufacturers. The reasons for this are, first, the poor quality of material and inferior workmanship used in the American product, and second, the ability of the Japanese to duplicate the American rolling stock at their own prices even delivering a better article. American manufacturers will soon lose his trade if they do not at once waken to the necessity of exerting themselves to retain it.

Another matter for dissatisfaction has been the poor way in which the American cars, etc., have been packed, carelessness that has resulted in heavy losses to the Eastern consignors.

The Japanese looked over the field and after comparing the American railroad system with that of Europe, decided that the former was the better for the requirements of Manchuria and Korean traffic. Consequently a complete American railway system of 1390 miles now connects the principal ports and cities of Manchuria and Korea. On May 25th of this year, 121 American locomotives, 1403 American freight cars and ninety-three American passenger coaches were installed on the South Manchurian trunk lines and on this date the system extended from Masampo and Fusan, on the sea of Japan, to Chemulpo and Antung, on the bay of Korea, thence to Tairen and Port Arthur, on the gulf of Pechili, and to Newchwang, on the gulf of Liaotung.

To love our enemies as we love ourselves it is only necessary to be our own worst enemies.

a burlesque counterfeit of the director, in a song about "Too Many Papas" satirizing the divorce evil, which set the house wild. She created a climax when "Sonny" Cunha, leading the orchestra at the piano, accepted her proffered kiss over the footlights and thus became her baby boy and bunch of joy as the song expressed.

All of the other specialties of the President vaudevillists at the Orpheum were done to perfection. It is not often that a variety show gives such complete satisfaction as was evident on the part of the audience last night.
